About The Reily Foundation

The Reily Foundation is a not-for-profit organisation offering free education and advocacy support to parents navigating the child protection system in South Australia. Reily is committed to reducing the number of children entering the State's child protection system, facilitating reunification of families and building parenting capacity.

What free support services do we deliver?

Practical support, education and advocacy for parents to identify and overcome barriers that hinder their ability to care for their children and to work towards the best possible outcomes for their families.

Practical Support Services

- Tailored case management
- One-on-one counselling and life coaching
- Advisory support
- Connection to wrap-around support services such as domestic violence, housing, specialised counselling and substance abuse

Advocacy

- Support and attendance during DCP and associated service meetings
- Individual support and attendance during court appointments
- Systems-level advocacy based on data-driven research

Education

- Showing Up For Your Kids Workshop Series
- Be Present For Life Workshop

WORKSHOP SERIES

Showing Up For Your Kids | A FREE two-day workshop is delivered separately for mums and dads to ensure a safe environment which fosters genuine engagement and participation.

Participants work through understanding the child protection system processes and expectations of DCP. An experienced lawyer joins us to give insight into the possible pathways once a child has been removed and how to navigate the legal aspects. Participants bring along their own case plans to familiarise parents with the document and understand what action is required. This session also focuses on how parents can make the most of access visits with their child by making meaningful connections and understanding connection impacts from a child's perspective.

Be Present For Life | The FREE Be Present for Life workshop offers transformative and research-based intensive strategies designed specifically for parents with children on 18-year orders. This three-hour workshop aims to empower parents to create a nurturing and loving environment that fosters a healthy attachment with their child, by equipping parents with valuable insights and practical strategies.

“what has helped me is changing my mindset to DCP’s intentions, this in turn has made me change my posture and be less defensive and more vulnerable and show them that I need support and Reily helped me to have that change of mindset.”

Testimonials

"I now feel more supported as The Reily Foundation encouraged me to reach out and build up my village of positive people."

"I just wanted to thank you for all your support and help, and to everyone else from The Reily Foundation when I attending "Showing up for kids". The work you all do there is amazing and much appreciated."

"Thank you to Reily foundation for putting this workshop together, to give a more broken-down simple understanding for parents to navigate the department our children's needs and the carers. I have now left the workshop with a clearer understanding of what I need to do as a parent to build a stronger environment for my sale."

"I loved the course I think every parent that is working with DCP would benefit so much by doing this course and the teachers are so very fun kind and willing to help everyone understand."
